The Peter Walker's Peace Doves installation at St Canice's Cathedral and Round Tower, is now open to visitors. Over recent months, schools and community groups from across Kilkenny have taken part in this large-scale participatory artwork by writing their own messages of peace on paper doves. These individual contributions have now come together to create an installation of almost 10,000 paper doves, filling the Cathedral with a powerful and uplifting message of peace and hope. Come along and explore the installation and reflect on themes of peace, kindness, community and hope. The visit can also provide an opportunity to explore the Cathedral and discover more about this important heritage site in the heart of Kilkenny.
